To Make Up.—Press all pieces on wrong side. Stitch up side, sleeve and shoulder seams, taking the two "tabs" from front round back of neck. Stitch in sleeves forming extra fullness into two pleats at top of sleeve. Place buttons at even intervals on centre strip of front.

CHOOSE buttons in a bright colour for this jumper, and let them match your scarf. The original model was in a fawn mixture with vivid green scarf and buttons, a simple colour-scheme, but such an effective one.

If you find the edges of the neck opening or border round jumper are inclined to sag, you can make them firmer by working double crochet all round the edges, using a No. 12 "Aero" crochet hook for this purpose. Take care not to work the crochet too close, and, if necessary, miss a stitch occasionally. Work 2 double crochet in each corner to keep them flat. The crochet will also prevent the jumper from stretching out of shape after it has been worn some time.

ISN'T it dainty? The lace-stitch panels are repeated at the back, and the front fastens with a "zip."

To Complete Coat. — Join up shoulders, then sew tops of sleeves into armholes and press seams. Tack bands to front edges and oversew on wrong side. Stitch pocket bands to tops of pockets, leaving lower edges loose, but neatly sewing sides and top edges. Now pin pockets to fronts, placing them on the 11th stitch from front edge, not counting the bands. Tack all round, then sew in position, keeping them straight by a line of knitting. Sew on buttons. Sew on collar to within half an inch of each front. Sew up underarm and side seams, then press all seams and coat on wrong side, except welt and ribbing.

HERE'S a coat which is certain of masculine approval for sports, such as golf, motoring, and fishing.

A NOTE ABOUT TENSION

BE sure that the tension of your work is correct, if you wish to produce a garment the exact size of the original. To find out this, before you begin any knitted garment, knit a piece about 6 ins. square in the prescribed pattern, and press it with a warm iron and damp cloth. Then count the stitches with the aid of a tape-measure and see if the number corresponds with the tension mentioned in the directions.

If you get more stitches to the inch than the model, use coarser needles; if fewer, use finer, and experiment until the tension is correct.

A COSY CARDIGAN

IMPORTANT

Follow the directions carefully and use the wools and needles specified for all garments in this booklet if you want to be sure of the same result. The slightest variation in either makes an appreciable difference in the size of the jumper or cardigan.

Measure your work from time to time as the work proceeds, but press it first as the knitting stretches a little after pressing. Garter-stitch and fancy patterns stretch downwards more than stocking-stitch, and this should be borne in mind. Neglect of measuring will result in a garment much longer than it should be.
